FAILURE TO FILE IS FATAL ERROR

Democrats Omit to File Certificates of Nominations with Clerk Fifteen Days Before Election

THE LAW IS MANDATORY

And Not a Democratic Candidates Name Will Appear on the Ballot at the Election Nov. 6.

Through an unfortunate oversight, or more probably through the advice of an unskilled attorney, the Democratic candidates failed to file their certificates of nominations with the County Court Clerk fifteen days before the election, as required by law, as a result of which not a single Democratic candidate, county or district, will appear on the ballot November 6.

Numerous instances of single candidates overlooking this important duty have occurred, but this is the first case where, to our knowledge, a whole county ticket has failed to qualify for a place on the ballot. The incident created a sensation in Democratic circles, and it is needless to say that the Democratic voters are vigorously denouncing the unpardonable stupidity of their leaders for failing to get their candidates on the ballots. An exasperated Democrat cynically remarked that he thought that at the next election the Democratic candidates should employ a Republican lawyer to look after the legal affairs of the ticket.

The Democratic wise owls held a meeting Wednesday night and decided to institute court proceedings to try to rectify the blunder, and will push the matter through to the Court of Appeals at once. However, we think, the court proceedings are undertaken with a view to allay the storm of indignation raised in the rank and file of the party rather than with any hope of getting the names of the candidates on the ballot. The law in question is mandatory, and similar cases have been repeatedly taken up to the Court of Appeals, and the decisions of that court have unanimously held that a candidate who does not file his certificate with the County Court Clerk fifteen days before the election, has finally and forever forfeited his right to have his name appear on the official ballot.

BLUEGRASS HAS COAL FAMINE ON

CANTRILL ADVISES MINES BE RUN AT POINT OF HAV-ONET.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Kentucky's Bluegrass region, on the edge of one of the richest coal fields in the country, virtually is without coal. Representative Cantrell, of Kentucky, today told the Fuel Administration, urging immediate relief, he argued that if necessary the Kentucky mines, where there were recent strikes, should be operated at the point of the bayonet.

Mr. Cantrell presented a telegram from his home town of Georgetown, which said that snow was falling and there was not a lump of coal in the place. Similar conditions prevail throughout his district, he said. At Lexington the power plant furnishing lights for the city and power for a large interurban electric line had been forced to close three times last week for lack of coal. To give some measure of relief, he continued, city officials had confiscated coal in the railroad yards, but were able to get only a car at a time.

Fuel Administration officials said the recent strikes in Kentucky and Tennessee were responsible for the situation and they promised to afford relief as quickly as possible.

To Distribute Fuel.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 23.—Kentucky operators here attending the meeting of the Coal Association late today formed a committee to take charge of the distribution of coal in Eastern Kentucky, where it is said there is a serious coal shortage. A committee of ten operators representing each of the five large districts of the section was appointed. Calvin Holmes, of Cincinnati, was made chairman of the committee.

The available supply, which the operators admitted had been decreased by recent strikes, will be distributed among the cities where there is a shortage. Every effort will be made by the operators, it was said, to relieve the acute situation in Lexington, Paris, Georgetown and other cities in the section lying east of Louisville.

Snow fell here at intervals during the day Tuesday.

WINTER NO BARRIER TO DRIVE OF ALLIES

SECRETARY OF WAR BELIEVES
TECHNICALS ARE TO GET LIT-TLE REST.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Military experts here do not expect winter to halt the great allied drive against the Germans in Flanders. Secretary Baker's weekly review of war operations issued last night discloses the belief of the War Department that potency of material and men will enable the British and French commanders to triumph over natural obstacles and continue forcing the enemy backward without waiting for spring.

The review touches for the first time upon the American expeditionary forces in France, declaring the men, after three months' intensive training, are in efficient fighting trim and splendid physical condition.

In dwelling upon the importance of the battle of Flanders and its effect upon the morale of the Germans, the War Secretary declares it is apparent that the German high command planned the recent expedition against the Russians in the light sector in order to bolster up morale and meet impending internal difficulties. By extending her lines in the East, he adds, Germany has merely added to the length of her line of communications and increased confidence in the final allied victory.

38,000,000 MEN UNDER ARMS, ALLIES 27,500,000

Washington, Oct. 22.—At least thirty-eight million men are bearing arms in the war.—27,500 on the side of the world allies and 10,600,000 on the side of the Central Powers, according to latest War Department compilations from published reports in various countries. These figures do not include naval personnel strength, which would raise the total several millions.

Against Germany's 7,000,000, Austria's 4,000,000, Turkey's 3,000,000 and Bulgaria's 300,000, are arrayed the following armed forces: Russia, 9,000,000; France, 6,000,000; Great Britain, 5,000,000; Italy, 3,000,000; Japan, 1,400,000; United States, more than 1,000,000; China, 541,000; Ita-manin, 320,000; Serbia, 300,000; Belgium, 300,000; Greece, 300; Portugal, 200,000; Montenegro, 40,000; Siam, 36,000; Cuba, 11,000; and Liberia 400. San Marino and Panama also have small forces under arms.

Military experts do not regard these figures as entirely accurate but believe they represent in round numbers the comparative strengths of the contending armies as published recently. The War Department has many confidential reports on the forces of the Allies and considerable data concerning enemy armies, but this information is not made public for military reasons.

Germany and Austria have made every effort to conceal the precise numbers of their armies, but careful estimates of allied military intelligence departments have placed the total at about ten million, with Germany's force more than double Austria's.

SOUTHERN COAL LAND

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Purchase of a tract of fifty-four thousand acres of coal land in Scott County, near Oneida, by A. B. Day and John F. Shea, of Knoxville, has been announced here. The tract is said to be the largest single coal property in the South and more than $500,000 is involved in the deal.

Five coal operations already have been opened on the tract and additional development work is in progress.

The tract is near the Glen Mary oil gushers and the new owners expect to sink oil wells that will yield a productive flow.

NEGRO IN WOODPILE

The failure of all the Democratic candidates to file their certificates of nomination is a problem difficult of solution. It is hardly possible that all the candidates, including Judge Glenn, a lawyer of ability, and the Democratic managers, should have been ignorant of a law that has been for years in force, and one so vital to the interest of the Democratic party and its candidates. The condition is so utterly absurd that many Republicans believe that it was a premeditated scheme for partisan advantage.

The Democrats have instituted mandamus proceedings in the courts to compel the Clerk to place the names of their candidates on the ballots, but their attorneys know the case cannot be determined in the courts until after the election.

It is surmised that the Democratic managers saw the hopelessness of their ticket and devised this scheme with the hope of having the election held void by the courts, and then going before the people at a special election with a plea that the Republicans were in some way responsible for the Democratic misfortune.

It appears more reasonable to believe that it is a clumsy scheme to accomplish some partisan advantage than to think that all the Democrats in the county were ignorant of a plain statute, long in operation, and indispensable to the appearance of the names of their candidates on the ballot.

OHIO COUNTY TAKING BONDS

NEAR $75,000 SUBSCRIBED FOR
AT CLOSE OF YESTER-DAY.

CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

Many Are Eager To Take All Possible To Pay For When Proposition Is Understood.

The drive to place Ohio County's quota of the bond issue, of $90,000, with our citizens has resulted in placing near $75,000 within the county in the past few days. There is but little, if any doubt to the full amount being subscribed for, at the close of the campaign, which has been managed by the committee of bankers, of which John H. Barnes, of Beaver Dam, is chairman. When persons with a small amount of money which they can possibly spare, are made to understand the nature of the loan called for by the Government and that the bonds are tax free, interest bearing at the rate of four per cent, payable semi-annually are generally ready and in many instances, anxious to take these bonds in such amounts as they are able to pay for.

WILD CAT IS KILLED NEAR FORDSVILLE

We heard a report last week that a real wildcat had been killed near Fordsville, but the story appeared to us so improbable that we declined to mention it. However, we are more recently advised by responsible persons who saw the mummified feline that it was a genuine old time wildcat. It measured four feet and three inches from tip of nose to end of tail, and was gray with age. All its teeth were missing except the four large ones used in grasping its prey. A Mr. Awhrey was out possum hunting and shot the animal after his dog had chased it up a tree. The farmers of the neighborhood had been missing fowls and small pigs for several months and their losses are now accounted for.

NEW STEEL BRIDGE ACROSS PUBLIC DITCH

A new steel bridge costing $5,000 is in process of construction across the public ditch, on the Owensboro and Leitchfield road near Deandfield. The bridge is built of steel on a concrete base. Judge John B. Wilson, Esquires Ben Rice and Ben Taylor are the committee.

GERMAN LINES BADLY SMASHED

FRENCH SOLDIERS ON AISNE FRONT MAKE FIERCE ATTACK.

7,500 PRISONERS TAKEN

And Enormous Supplies of War Material Fall Into Hands of Allies.

Paris, Oct. 23.—In one of the swiftest and most dashing blows of the war the French troops to-day smashed through the German lines north of the Aisne to a depth of more than two miles at one point, inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and captured more than 7,500 prisoners and twenty-five heavy guns and field guns.

Several important villages also fell into the hands of the French, according to the War Office announcement to-night.

The text reads:

"North of the Aisne the attack which we launched this morning developed under extremely brilliant conditions. Notwithstanding mist and rain our troops attacked with admirable enthusiasm formidable organizations of the enemy which were defended by the best troops of Germany, supported by heavy artillery.

Troops Smash Forward.

"In their first dash our soldiers captured the line indicated by the quarries of Fruy and Böhery. A little later Malmesien fort, in the center, fell into our hands.

"Pushing their advance still further, our troops, after a desperate engagement, in which they gave proof of their irresistible snap, drove the enemy out of the quarries of Montparnesse which had been partly crushed by our big shells.

"On the left our progress was continued with the same success, the villages of Allemant and Vaudesson remaining in our power, while on the right our troops carried their line onto the heights dominating Fargny-Filain.

Enemy Losses Large.

"Finally, in the center, our troops drove fresh enemy reserves helter-skelter and captured, in a violent struggle, the village of Chavignon. At this point our advance reached a depth of three and a half kilometers (about two and a fifth miles).

"The enemy losses in the course of the day were large. In addition to those inflicted on him by our artillery preparation. The number of prisoners counted up to the present exceeds 7,500. In the enormous amount of material captured we have counted twenty-five heavy field cannon.

"Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, our aviators carried out with audacity the missions imposed upon them, their machines flying fifty meters above the lines."

In Flanders both the British and French troops are holding all the gains made in Monday's drive north-east of Ypres, except at one place on the southern fringe of the Heutheist forest, where the Germans in a furious counter attack forced a slight retirement by the British.

On the other fronts no important engagements are in progress, except in the nature of bombardments. On the Julian front of the Austro-Italian theater the artillery activity again has become intense. An Austrian attack with infantry in the Cadore region was repulsed by the Italians with heavy losses.

COURT OF APPEALS ON PLEA IN BAR

The Court of Appeals has just handed down a decision in an appeal by the Commonwealth against Tom Crowder in which the legality of an accused going before a magistrate's or other minor court, confessing a fine and pleading that act in bar of further prosecution, is clearly stated. The court held that such a plea is a bar to further prosecution unless the commonwealth can show collusion between the inferior court and the defendant, and the burden of proof is on the commonwealth to show such collusion.

1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world are the historians. They are people who study the past and try to understand what happened and why it happened. They use a variety of sources, including books, documents, and artifacts, to reconstruct the past. They also try to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Historians are interested in the past for a variety of reasons. Some are interested in the past because they want to know what happened and why it happened. Others are interested in the past because they want to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Still others are interested in the past because they want to learn from the mistakes of the past and avoid them in the future.

By CHAS. R. COBLE

There is still one thing to be done about that. It is to make the people of the United States understand that the people of the United States are the only ones who can make a difference in the world.

In a matter of few days we invaded the United States, we destroyed its main factories and railroads and we were in an effort to stop the exportation of goods to Europe and to the Africa.

You are a Christian, and Germany has attacked and robbed and seized. Germany has crushed Belgium and Belgium is a part of civilization—a noble part.

So, it is just as much your war as it is England's war, or France's or Belgium's. It is even more your war than it is any one of these nations for the reason that the United States, of which you are a part, stands for the best in civilization and the highest in democracy.

Countless mothers have sent their sons to France to fight for you, countless wives have given up their husbands that you might be protected, that democracy might live.

What are you going to do about that? Are you going to stand idly by while these men fight? They are giving up everything that is dear to them. What are you giving up? The least you can do in the name of civilization and humanity and justice, the least you can do for your God and for those who are near and dear to you is to back up the boys in the trenches, back up the Government itself, back up President Wilson, who is giving his best for you, just as our soldiers are perhaps giving their life-blood—the least you can do is to back up all of these men and all of these influences by lending your money to the Government by purchasing Liberty Bonds.

Not to-morrow and not next day, not a week from now, but NOW. This is the time for you to show your patriotism; this is the time for you to show that there is red blood in your veins; this is the time for you to speak out against the German Government's ravage of civilization and humanity.

Man, Man, this is your war and this is your hour to act.

It has been said that the United States is the only country in the world that is not a democracy. This is a very old and very common charge. It is a charge that has been made for many years. It is a charge that is based on a misunderstanding of the American system. The American system is a democracy. It is a system in which the people have the right to elect their representatives. It is a system in which the people have the right to speak their minds. It is a system in which the people have the right to vote. It is a system in which the people have the right to hold their representatives accountable. It is a system in which the people have the right to change their government. It is a system in which the people have the right to live in peace and freedom. It is a system in which the people have the right to be happy. It is a system in which the people have the right to be proud. It is a system in which the people have the right to be free. It is a system in which the people have the right to be Americans.

GREEKIAN DREAM ALMOST REALITY

COUNTRY BARELY MISSED BE-ING RULING POWER IN ASIA MINOR.

Athens—A dream of empire which would have made Greece a ruling power in Asia Minor along the route to the Orient came very near being realized at the opening of the war in Europe. This has just been brought out with official exactness in the mass of diplomatic documents laid before Parliament, and in statements by Premier Venizelos and the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Politis. Referring to the territorial concessions which Greece could have acquired at that time, M. Venizelos said:

"I had succeeded in obtaining the recognition of the rights of Hellenism over Western Asia Minor. And I can say without exaggeration that the day I received the communication of Sir Edward Grey speaking of very important territorial concessions on the coast of Asia Minor, was a day of rejoicing as keen as that when the treaty of Bucharest was signed, giving us Saloniki, Macedonia and new Greece."

See Progress in Greece.
"I who had known how small and feeble Greece was only three or four years ago, saw the stupifying bound she was about to make. This little Greece had now succeeded in occupying a place equal to that of the great powers in the settlement of the fate of Turkey which had been the apple of discord between the European powers."

But as Asia Minor was a field of German ambition and hope, M. Venizelos said he found himself opposed not only by the then King Constantine, but also by the army General Staff, which, he declared, "served a policy purely Germanic." And with this opposition, backed by the King, the opportunity held out to Greece to become a great power in Asia Minor was finally lost.

M. Politis, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, gave some of the details of these concessions, and told how near they came to being realized in two formal treaties.

Beneficial Policy Desired.
"Such was the desire of the Western powers," he said, "to have Greece adopt a policy mutually advantageous to them and to Greece, that they declared to the Hellenic government that they were ready to assure to Greece, in return for its co-operation in the war against Turkey, Smyrna and an important part of the hinterland."

After lengthy discussion, M. Politis said a double convention was concluded. But at this point the army staff intervened and succeeded in defeating the plan.

While these large territorial plans came to nothing, yet their definiteness indicates they may again be heard from when the final adjustment of the war takes place, for Greece is not unlikely to have the same aspirations toward Asia Minor, and the Western Powers the same willingness they have already shown to give Greece a foothold on this route to the Orient.

MODEL MINING TOWN GROWS UP OVER NIGHT

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Like towns built in the West during the wild gold fever rush of the days of '49, a model mining town has literally grown up over night in the center of the virgin field in Harlan and Letcher Counties, Ky.

Sixteen hundred houses will be completed within fifteen months, say officials of the United States Coal and Coke Company subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, which is behind the project.

At present 160 eight-room houses are under construction. After these are completed the building of the others will begin. Forty-eight million feet of lumber altogether will be used.

A total of 250,000,000 feet of lumber was bought this week at a cost of approximately $150,000.

A temporary commissary building, 240 feet long by 60 wide, is also now being erected. The permanent commissary will be constructed after the construction of the 1,600 houses is completed. It will be of brick, and will cost between $100,000 and $125,000.

We find it to be the most reliable cough medicine we have used."

STARS AND STRIPES BRING CHEERS IN PARIS

Paris, Oct. 20.—The Stars and Stripes still stir up big demonstrations of enthusiasm in the French capital, even the months have elapsed since the United States entered the war.

The grand finale at the Folies Bergere, the other night, brought out the flags and national anthems of the allied nations a la George Toban. The British color and "God Save the King," brought a demonstration and a large number in the audience rose to their feet. The Italian, Belgian, Roumanian, Serbian, Russian and Portuguese flags all brought applause.

Uncle Sam had the big place in the tableaux. When a pretty girl strode on the stage waving the Stars and Stripes, and the orchestra swung into "The Star Spangled Banner," the house went mad. A Canadian soldier proposed three cheers for the Yanks. Uncle Sam received an ovation that would have gladdened the hearts of Americans everywhere.

WOMAN TAKES MAN'S JOB AS HEARSE DRIVER

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 20.—War has resulted in woman filling a new berth in this industrial city, and the old maxim that has been revised to "The hand that rocks the cradle drives the hearth."

Mrs. J. T. Brown is the new chauffeur of the hearse of a prominent undertaking concern. She says leaving a cortege containing weeping relatives of the deceased was very depressing at first, "but now I just watch the road and never think what the sad occasion of the trip is."

The hearse was formerly driven by a man who enlisted in Uncle Sam's liberty army.

AN OPERATION AVERTED

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I soon noticed a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. T. J. McGowan, 1224, 82 1/2 S. 2nd Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BEAUTIFUL GULF COAST REAL PLAYGROUND

The beautiful thing about the Gulf Coast, between New Orleans and Pensacola is that it is a real playground, summer or winter—a playground for northern folk from November to May, and for Southern during the summer months. You can't ask for much more of placid nature than has been expended on the gulf littoral between New Orleans and Pensacola. There are pine woods, forests of live oaks, all moss hung and mysterious, long stretches of winding, shaded roads, woodland paths, quaint southern hamlets and modern resorts teeming with gaiety and active life; lovely retreats where you can swing in a hammock all day and drowse in the narcotic air. And there is the sparkling water, the beach, the surf, boating, fishing—anything and everything that calls from the salt water side.

Going south on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, after you leave Mobile, it is impossible to escape the infection of joyous living, even if you wanted to do that. At every stop throngs of people are going and coming—youth and age alike, getting on or off the trains. Laughter and breezy, sunny, fragrant air greet you. It is moreover a place of sane, natural outdoor joys in surroundings of homely comfort or of luxurious ease, whichever you prefer. It is a locality of ancient and honorable traditions and the natives are descended from holders of the soil since the first days of the white settler. They make you welcome with a stately, southern hospitality, and have put at your disposal the best of their home land affords. Every resort and every old plantation home is shaded by age-old ancestral oaks and grown over with trailing vines, roses and perennials; and they all look out over the gulf waters, at the dancing waves, the scudding sails, the beach and the surf. If you can't find happiness down there in the golden sunshine and among the countless diversions and attractions of that playground, don't go south in the winter expecting to find your "Promised Land," for you'll have only your trouble for your pains. No choicer spot exists and greater comfort is not to be found. The winter climate is ideal, not uncomfortably warm, but moderate and bracing, putting snap and ginger into the system.

Touring along the Gulf Coast is one of the ways travelers like to find their own particular choice—and for this purpose the train service of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is convenient. You can stop everywhere, beginning at Mobile, and stay a few hours, a few days or as long as you wish. It is a fascinating vagabondage that will bring you eventually to the place of your ultimate desire. You can, also, if you choose, ship your motor car to Mobile and go in for regular touring along the gulf—the roads are all good and the country is fascinating in the extreme. History lends its background of fact to a long list of interesting traditions and romantic legends concerning this locality, and the "atmosphere," while wholly American, has the foreign flavor in sufficient degree to give it diversity and variety. Topographically, the coast lies low and curving, rising gently toward the hinterland, which is forested with pines, broken in the clearings, by rich and productive farmlands. The shore line is much indented, the numerous bays, "bayous," "sounds" and lakes giving a seemingly endless and all-surrounding water scene. Lying off the shore is a line of islands, forming the outer bulwark of Mississippi Sound, and fronting this are the resorts that have been famous since pre-revolutionary days—the towns which began as of the French colonies, begun under the brothers de Bienville and d'Iberville.—Advertisement.

UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17, 1917.
To All Federal Food Administrators:
A statement has appeared in Chicago papers that the United States Food Administration has the intention of reducing the hog price to $10.00. This statement is absolutely untrue, and has caused a flood of inquiries to which the following is a sample of our reply:

Chicago advises absolutely untrue and do not represent opinion or proposed action of the Food Administration, which will take no steps to jeopardize live stock producers interests. All our power will be used to keep prices at which allied and governmental purchases are made, on a plane that gives an assured return of cost and profit to producers of meat animals. In our opinion the best market obtainable for the present crop of the country will be through live stock. We need increased production of beef and pork and the only way to secure this increase will be by a profit on production. Will appreciate your giving this widest publicity.

Faithfully yours,
HERBERT HOVER.

CIRCUIT COURT AT HAWESVILLE

JUDGE SLACK AND COMMON-WEALTH ATTORNEY SMITH AT THEIR POSTS.

Hawesville, Ky., Oct. 22.—The Hancock Circuit Court convened in regular session in this city at 9 o'clock this morning. The court house was well filled with towns-people and husky farmers and their sons and daughters from the country-side. At 9 a. m., the appointed hour, Judge Slack rapped for order and Clerk McAdams was directed to read the orders of the last day of the last regular term. This duty performed, Deputy Sheriff Enqua, in accordance with directions, so to do, called the names of those who had been summoned for services as grand jurors. After the completion of the panel, Judge Slack charged the jury as to their duties, and they repaired to the room provided, to begin their investigation as to the infractions of the penal laws. The petit jury was quickly empaneled and the docket of commonwealth cases was called for trial.

The most important criminal case on the docket for trial at this term, Com'th. vs. Bertrum Staples, charged with seduction under promise of marriage, was called for trial. Commonwealth's Attorney Smith promptly announced ready for trial. Counsel for the defendant announced not ready and filed the affidavit of his client as to what absent witnesses would say if present, which the Commonwealth's Attorney declined to admit as the depositions of such absent witnesses and the case was continued for the defendant, until the January term. There remained only a few unimportant cases which were disposed of in regular order.

There are but few civil cases for trial, and the court will make an effort to complete its labors by adjourning hour Wednesday, at which time it is believed that the business for the term shall have been completed.

HARTFORD ATTORNEY TOUCHED BY TEARS

While waiting at a Louisville depot, a few days ago, for a Frankfort train a Hartford attorney noticed a young family of man, wife and baby whose tears indicated distress, and upon inquiry was informed that the man had just been drafted for army service, and that the wife and baby had made the trip from a central Kentucky town to Louisville in order to spend the last possible moment with husband and father. While on the way over to Frankfort the attorney, whose heart had been touched by the tears of the separating family, approached the mother with the inquiry why her husband had not been exempted from the service, and from her simple answer discovered that the people were poor and ignorant and were not aware that the husband was entitled to an appeal from the service to which he had been called through some error of the exemption board. He it said to the softness of the attorney's heart that he made notes of the circumstances of the case, and voluntarily, without hope of any other compensation but the love of justice and sympathy for a heart-broken wife and mother, began at once the prosecution of an appeal to secure the release of the unfortunate man from service in the army.

Dr. H. B. Washburn will be at the Commercial Hotel, Beaver Dam, Ky., during the week commencing with Monday, October 15th, and on each third Monday and the week following, thereafter, to do all kinds of first class dental work at reasonable prices. 1514

STRAIGHT AHEAD IS ALLIES PLAN

DEATH DRIVE OF ALLIES WILL KNOW NO WINTER'S STORMS.

New York, Oct. 23.—A mighty and unexpected French blow, struck at the German line, netted tri-color troops two miles of territory, 7,500 prisoners and 25 guns this morning.

The loss is recorded along with the sinking of fifteen Teuton warships by the Russian fleet, and the loss of half Germany's effective force of super-Zeppelins.

The French fought one of the most cleverly conceived and most brilliantly executed actions of the war. More than one thousand prisoners belonging to the Fifth Prussian Guards were taken, and the French still continue their victorious progress.

The battle opened before dawn along a nine-kilometer front, from the northeast of Laffaux, about the neighborhood of Vauxallion to La Royere Farm. Amid lily darkness, the French troops left their trenches and with a terrific barrage fire from the most powerful concentration of French guns ever gathered on such a short front preceding them, and made their way forward, into and over the first German positions, sweeping all resistance aside.

Altogether, six German infantry divisions were aligned, facing the French attacking forces, but none of them was able to withstand the onslaught. The advance continued like clockwork.

A correspondent observed the battle from a point whence he could see the entire line and was able to watch the precision with which the artillery prepared the German for the advance of the infantry and the methodical manner of the infantry's progress.

The French attack is one of the most important gains of terrain since they threw back the army of the German crown prince, which was besieging Verdun.

The stroke was made over a front of about six miles, from the east of Vauxallion to Pargny-Flain. Under rainy and generally unfavorable weather conditions, the French pushed forward all along the line, aided by audacious aviators who flew over the German positions at an altitude of about 150 feet, using their machine guns, and penetrated the German line at one point to a depth of two and a fifth miles.

The greatest depth of the drive was in the center of the line, where the village Chavignon was captured after a violent struggle which resulted in the enemy feeling pell mell. Some of the best troops in the army of the German crown prince were engaged in endeavoring to hold back the onslaught, but their efforts were unavailing under the enthusiasm of the French to win positions which would place them more advantageously to press on later toward Laon.

For about a week the French artillery had been hurling tons of steel into the German line in front of them in preparation for the drive, and when it was started had have already had been wrought by the guns. In addition to the prisoners taken by the French, the Germans also suffered heavy casualties.

The latest advices concerning the naval activities in the Gulf of Riga between the Germans and the Russians show that although the Russians lost the battleship Slava and a large torpedo boat destroyer, the Germans were the heaviest losers. Two of their dreadnoughts, one cruiser, twelve torpedo boats, one transport and numerous mine sweepers, were put out of action by the Russian fleet. While the exact fate of these vessels has not been ascertained by the Petrograd government, it is announced that at least six of the German destroyers were sunk.

Further German attempts to land forces on the Estonian coast to the North of Werder have been repulsed by Russian detachments.

Farm Department

To Combat Animal Diseases.

A more intensive fight than ever before will be waged by the United States Department of Agriculture on hog cholera and the cattle tick with funds made available by the recently enacted food production bill. Between them, hog cholera and cattle tick fever cause annual losses of approximately $60,000,000. In an effort to stem these losses and so, in effect, to increase meat production, the department will put a greatly enlarged staff of specialists to work in the field within the next few weeks. Tick eradication, which is essential to building up cattle raising in sections of the South now infested by ticks, will be extended in all affected States. Twenty-five veterinarians will be added to the department's staff to carry on the work against hog cholera throughout the hog-raising sections of the country.

What Is Available Plant Food?

Every reader of a farm paper has encountered frequently the expression "available plant food." It means the plant food which will readily dissolve in the soil water so that the plant can take it up. In the animal stomach there are certain digestive fluids that dissolve the food so that it can be absorbed into the blood stream. The soil must serve as a stomach for plants, and as the plant food dissolves in the soil water it is absorbed into the plant juices and moves applying a constant circulation. From this it can be seen that only dissolved plant food can be used. Almost all soil materials can be dissolved to a slight extent, but often the rate of dissolving is too slow.

Two Methods For Curing Pork.

Hog killing time is coming. It is especially important this year that each family cure an abundant supply of meat. Two methods of curing pork are offered.

DRY CURE. Do not cut up the pork till the carcass is well chilled. Make a mixture of clean, fine salt 40 pounds, white or brown sugar 10 pounds, white or black pepper 4 pounds, red pepper one-half pound. This will make enough cure for about 1,000 pounds of pork. If saltwater is desired, use 2 pounds in the above mixture. It will give a red color to the lean meat, but has a tendency to harden the meat too much. Chili saltwater may be used instead of the regular saltwater by taking about 20 per cent less.

Rub each piece of meat thoroughly with the cure. Take special care to work the cure around the ends of bone of hams and shoulders. Pack skin down on a table or in a box in a cool, dry place. Do not place in direct sunlight or in a damp, musty cellar. After four or five days overhaul the meat, rub thoroughly with the cure and repack; repeat this in about a week. Hams and shoulders should remain in the cure from 1 1/2 days to 2 days per pound weight of piece; the latter time is safer for meat that is to be kept during the summer. Bacon should be in the cure a shorter time. Ten days will give a very nice, mild cure to a six or eight pound piece.

BRINE CURE. Make a brine by boiling 7 pounds of clean salt and 2 pounds of white or brown sugar with two gallons of water. If saltwater is desired add one-fourth pound. This gives about enough to cover 100 pounds of pork when well packed. Sprinkle a little clean fine salt in the bottom of the barrel, rub each piece of meat lightly with salt, sprinkle a light layer of salt between each layer of meat. Put on a board and weight down with a rock. Allow to stand over night. Tip barrel on side and allow the liquor to run out. Cover the meat with the cold brine and allow to stand in a cool place 4 or 5 days. Overhaul, repack, and cover with the same brine. Repeat in about a week. Give the meat the same length of time for curing as with the dry cure.

When the curing is complete, wash off the excess cure and hang in the smokehouse. Meat kept in the cure too long should be soaked in warm water to remove the excess of the cure. Smoke with hickory, oak, apple, or any non-resinous wood. Avoid all wood of the pine family. With a continuous smudge the smoking can be completed in 24 hours. With intermittent smoking longer time is necessary as cold meat "takes the smoke" slowly. Wrap the meat to keep it away from the skippers. If rats or mice get at the meat they open a way for the skippers. In damp weather cured meats will mold. This is not injurious except it is advisable to use up shoulders, as the mold grows in the cracks and cuts for excess trimming.

Ration Determines Profit of Pork Curing.

Pork can be produced at a profit even with the present high price of feeds. This together with the fact that the ration received by fattening hogs has much to do with the economy of pork production has been shown clearly in demonstration feeding tests conducted at the St. Joseph (Mo.) stockyards by the University of Missouri College of Agriculture and the Kansas State Agricultural College working in co-operation. R. M. Watkins, manager of the demonstration feed yards at St. Joseph, presents the following data concerning the cost of producing pork with the various rations.

The result given are the average of four successive ninety-day feeding periods conducted at the demonstration feed yards. A ration of shelled corn and tankage required 389 pounds of shelled corn and 28 pounds of tankage to produce 100 pounds gain. The cost of gain was $15.15 a hundred. A ration of shelled corn and linseed meal required 415 pounds of shelled corn and 27 pounds of linseed meal to produce 100 pounds gain. The cost of gain was $15.63 a hundred. One period of feeding shelled corn, tankage and shorts showed approximately the same cost as shelled corn and tankage. The feed prices upon which these figures are based are corn $2.09 a bushel, tankage $4.50 per hundred pounds, linseed meal $2.00 per hundred pounds, shorts $2.50 per hundred pounds.

Feeders will note that pork can be produced, with feed at its present high price, at about $15.00. With pork at $15.00, this makes a margin of nearly $3.00 to insure a reasonable profit. The unanimous opinion of the best authorities is to the effect that the present high price of hogs will be maintained for some time to come because of the demand for pork products and the apparent scarcity of them. The fact should also be considered that if crops can be fed on the farm, and made to bring as much money as they would if sold, that the fertility left on the farm makes that method highly advisable.

You Should Conserve The Farm Machinery.

Put your farm machinery in sheds, and fix it up in tip-top shape this winter. The shed will cost some more than it did before, but the advance in building materials generally has not been nearly as great as has that on machinery.

Second-hand machinery will be worth money from now on. Saving the paint on it will make it sell better. Look the old corn binder over and see if new parts will not fix it up before buying a new one. If the grain binder bothered this fall, give a good overhauling at the first opportunity, and see what new parts it needs. Send for these parts and repair it. It will pay.

Farm machinery will not only raise higher in price but is very apt to be scarce for the next several years. The curtailing of the iron and steel now used in the manufacture of farm machinery is sure to come, and some preliminary reports state that the amount allotted to this purpose will be cut as low as one-half the amount used last year. In the past steel and iron have been so cheap we have formed a habit of wasting it. We must conserve it now. It is a business proposition and a patriotic duty as well.

A scrub ram is expensive at any time, but doubly so at the present high price of wool and lambs. A good ram has many times proved to be more than "half the flock." Many successful and progressive sheep breeders trace their start on the road to success to the purchase of a good ram. Sometimes the price of the ram has looked high but time proved it to be the cheapest and by far the best paying investment ever made.

Get houses ready for fall layers and put them in.

Indigestion comes from changing the food too suddenly.

Finish up your winter houses.

Farm animals must be comfortable in order that they do as well as possible. This is especially true of swine, since no farm animal suffers as much from extremes of heat and cold as the hog. Most men prefer to feed hogs in the spring and fall, for they say the hogs gain more at these times on the same feeds than during summer and winter. This is perhaps in a large measure true only because they are more comfortable.

Don't administer medicine on the "gun shot" plan.

Late spading or plowing for the garden is excellent for next year's crop.

Sow a cover crop, if the orchard is a cultivated one, to stand until next

CIVIC BODIES AND PRESS FAVORS THE AMENDMENT

There is wide spread interest throughout the state in the constitutional amendment permitting the purchase of one telephone company by another, which was adopted by the last legislature, and which will be voted upon at the coming November election. Chambers of Commerce and civic bodies in a large number of communities have adopted resolutions endorsing the amendment and pledging their efforts towards its passage. Newspapers throughout the state are also endorsing the amendment and are urging the importance of a favorable vote by the people.

The amendment to the constitution, which is made a part of Section 201, is as follows:

"Provided, however, that telephone companies may acquire by purchase or lease, or otherwise, and operate, parallel or competing exchanges, lines and structures, and the property of other telephone companies, if the railroad commission or such other state commission as may have jurisdiction over such matters shall first consent thereto, and if, further, each municipality wherein such property or any part thereof is located shall also first consent thereto as to the property within its limits, but under any such acquisition and operation, toll line connections with the property to be acquired shall be continued and maintained under an agreement between the purchasing company and the toll line companies then furnishing such service, and in the event they are unable to agree as to the terms of such an agreement the railroad commission or such other state commission as may have jurisdiction over such matters, shall fix the term of such government."

Chambers of Commerce which have passed resolutions favoring the amendment are those at Bowling Green, Frankfort, Lexington, Shelbyville, Henderson, Middlesboro, State Chamber of Commerce of Louisville, and others.

Quite a number of newspapers have endorsed the amendment editorially, both at points where there are two telephone systems and in cities where there is only one system.

The Anderson News, Lawrenceburg, Ky., says:

"Two telephone lines in any community, both contending for supremacy, are a perfect nuisance. Two telephones in a private residence are too expensive to maintain; two telephones in a business house are an expensive necessity; therefore the General Assembly has come to the rescue of the people if they will accept its assistance and go to the polls in November and cast their vote for this amendment."

The Danville, Ky., Messenger says:

"It is hoped that the people will remember and vote for this amendment, as it is the only way in which the public in some localities will ever have decent service."

The Interior Journal, Stanford, Ky., says:

"The Interior Journal favors the amendment and will vote for it. One system answers the demand and two are as annoying as they are useless. The demand is for good service, not for multiplicity of exchanges. Then, too, the expense of two systems must be considered. This is just double, and in some cases more than double. Oh! no, don't give us more telephone exchanges, but better service. This is the need of the hour. The amendment ought to carry."

The Bowling Green, Ky., Times-Journal says:

"We cannot too highly commend the Chamber of Commerce in its efforts to secure the adoption of this amendment by the voters. The Times-Journal is for the amendment, and will add its efforts to those of the Chamber of Commerce to bring about the adoption."

The Paducah, Ky., Sun says:

"The public interest is thoroughly protected under the proposed constitutional amendment, as no purchase can be made without the consent of the city council. The passage of the bill providing for the constitutional amendment and the practically unanimous vote it received in the General Assembly is evidence that it was passed in response to a wide spread and popular demand for relief from present telephone conditions."

The Middlesboro, Ky., Three States says:

"Three States has for a number of years in the past been a constant agitator for the one telephone system, showing where the one system could better and more economically serve the public than two or more systems. The expense of two systems is burdensome upon the public and the botheration and confusion of having the walls of your place of business lined with telephones, where one could do the work is sufficient reason why the public should demand one system."
